established presence in the major oil and gas producing regions of the world such as the Middle East, Africa, Australasia and the USA. Among the new clients are major international oil and gas operators including BP, Conoco, Anadarko Petroleum and Qatar Gas, OMV Australia, Chevron, Total, and Centrica.

It's expected that the new contract wins will result in a substantial rise in staff numbers by the end of beginning of next year.

David Smith, CEO at C3 Global, said: "C3 Global has had a positive start to the year securing a raft of contract wins. The North Sea is a very competitive market place and home to many ageing assets, to which our business intelligence and asset performance solutions can bring cost, time and operating efficiencies.

"We are very encouraged that interest in our services has raised among the Aberdeen based major North Sea operators and as part of our ongoing growth strategy we will continue to focus on this important market."

C3 Global's core performance solutions create value for its clients by enhancing the analytical capability of their Data Historians and disparate systems. It uses unique tools, business logic, and operational and financial data to create a clear picture of performance and real-time decision support. Managers are then able to understand where operations are working well and identify underperformance.

It provides clients with the functionality to assess the situation and provides them with the analysis they need in the form of actionable instructions to focus on where critical decisions are required.
